

Launch of the Declaration of Humanity by Leaders of Faith and Leaders of Belief
17 November
1300-1345 GMT

Lord Ahmad of Wimbledon, the UK Prime Minister's Special Representative on Preventing Sexual Violence in Conflict, would like to invite you to the launch of the Declaration of Humanity by Leaders of Faith and Leaders of Belief.

The first of its kind, the Declaration calls for the prevention of sexual violence in conflict and denounces the stigma too often faced by survivors, including children born of conflict-related sexual violence. It provides an opportunity for multiple faiths and beliefs to unite in a common front to challenge damaging societal norms, and encourage support for survivors of sexual violence internationally.

We'd be delighted if you could join our esteemed panellists who will discuss the important role of faith and belief in tackling conflict-related sexual violence, and the stigma faced by survivors.

Lord (Tariq) Ahmad of Wimbledon, Prime Minister's Special Representative on Preventing Sexual Violence in Conflict

Lord Bishop of Gloucester, Rt Revd Rachel Treweek, Church of England
Esperande Bigirimana, SEMA, the Global Network of Victims and Survivors to End Wartime Sexual Violence

Archbishop Angaelos, Coptic Orthodox Archbishop of London

To join the event, please register at this link [<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/launch-of-the-declaration-of-humanity-tickets-128743066979>]

Please find the Declaration attached. Participants are encouraged to amplify messages about the Declaration on social media channels using #FaithAndBeliefAgainstSVC