

Residency procedures for UK nationals who reside in Poland and continue their stay after 31 December 2020

Supported by

Foreign, Commonwealth
& Development Office

IOM
UN MIGRATION

What do you need to do?

Depending on your situation, you are obliged to either register your residence or exchange the residency document you currently have for a new one.

For all types of applications you should:

- File an application form in person at the appropriate voivodeship office (urząd wojewódzki) between 1 January 2021 and 31 December 2021 (in most offices, scheduling an appointment is required)
- Submit copies of supporting documents and bring originals for the appointment in the voivodeship office – an inspector will authorize the copies based on the original document
- Submit your fingerprints
- Complete the application form and supporting documents in Polish
- Attach a sworn translation of any supporting documents that are in English

For further detail about what to provide with your application, please see the relevant section below.

Fees:

The fees for all procedures have been waived.

Types of procedures:

1. Application for registration of residence – this applies to you if you haven't registered your stay before 31 December 2020 but you have been residing in Poland and intend to continue your residency for longer than 3 months
2. Application for a new certificate of registration – this applies to you if you have registered as an EU citizen residing in Poland before 31 December 2020 and you are in possession of an EU residency document (zaświadczenie o zarejestrowaniu pobytu obywatela UE)
3. Application for a document certifying the right to permanent residence – this applies to you if you have not applied for such a document before 31 December 2020 and have been continuously residing in Poland for 5 years (3 years if married to a Polish citizen) or longer and wish to obtain a document certifying the right to permanent residence

4. Application for a new document certifying the right to permanent residence – this applies to you if you are in possession of EU permanent residence document (dokument potwierdzający prawo stałego pobytu)

How can I access the application forms and other necessary documents?
